Girl Escapes Abductor, Returns Home

MAN FAILS TO GET RANSOM

California Police and FBI Comb Entire West Coast For Suspect

(By Associated Press)
LODI, Calif., Jan. 22—Kidnaped Alice Dean Devine, popular and pretty 17-year-old Lodi high school student, was back home and unharmed today after the most harrowing 26 hours of her life.

Police authorities hunted over the entire west coast for a man who tried to collect $10,000 in ransom and gave up in flight.

The 165-pound girl athlete broke out of her bonds in a highway motel near Sacramento yesterday afternoon while the kidnaper was away and telephoned her location to relatives in Sacramento.

State police broadcast an all-points alarm for the arrest of a man they said had used the names of Everett Westcott Stiles of Portland, Ore., and William (Bill) Giles, identifying himself as an agent for an eastern publishing house.

Fails To Appear For Ransom
Alice was held under police guard until last night when she and her father were stationed across the street from a Sacramento bar in a futile effort to capture her abductor.

The kidnaper failed to appear at the bar to collect the ransom. The father, John Edward Devine, wealthy Lodi grape grower and vice president of the American Fruit Growers association, had been told in a note the night before to be at the bar at 8 p. m. last night with $10,000 in $20 and $1,000 bills if he wished to see his daughter again.

After waiting fairly an hour beyond the ransom deadline, police and FBI agents decided the kidnaper had been frightened away by newspaper stories and the girl and her father were returned home in a state highway patrol automobile.

The girl was whisked into the back door of the Devine home just as her mother, Mrs. Margaret Devine, told a group of newspapermen she had heard nothing of her daughter's whereabouts.

Just then, Alice's brother, Dalton, cried, "Oh, mom, oh, mom, she's here!"

Apparently Unharmed
Alice, rushing into the house, threw herself into her mother's arms with a cry, "Oh, mother," and then ran upstairs. She was disheveled but apparently unharmed.

FARM PROGRAM MEETING OPENS

Crowds Brave Weather To Attend Institute; Continues Thursday

Despite near-zero weather more than 200 farm folk turned out this morning for the first session of 15th annual Farm Program Institute, being held today and Thursday in the Memorial building.

Although the inclement weather delayed the appearance of three persons on the program and held down the attendance to some extent, committee members anticipate an overflow audience at sessions this afternoon and evening.

Two of the three featured speakers on the Institute program spoke this morning in the opening session.

Hear State Speakers
Mrs. C. E. Duff of Canton, a member of the state institute force, spoke on "Are We Really Living in This Land of Opportunity?" She urged her listeners to get more out of life by taking advantage of the opportunities presented in America.

She was born in Britain and came to this country at the end of the first World War. A great portion of her time is devoted to volunteer work with many service organizations.

"Democracy—Worth Saving and How" was the topic of a speech by W. J. Welday of Smithfield, this morning. Welday, master farmer and orchardist, gave a very forceful and inspiring talk.

He is a past president of the Ohio Horticultural society.

The institute was given a welcome by Charles Haldi, president of the Salem Business Bureau.

The business bureau will sponsor the concluding institute program Thursday evening to be held in the High School auditorium and featuring songs by the Mile Branch grange male quartet, which won national honors last year. The general public is invited.

Tonight's program will begin at 8 and will include music by the Fairmount Children's home band, a Goshen grange choral group and a grange play, in addition to speeches by both Mrs. Duff and Welday.

Rush Aid to Snowbound People in Montana Town

BROWNING, Mont., Jan. 22.—Seven trucks were slated to begin a hazardous, 40-mile journey from Browning to Babb today, with needed supplies for the tiny North-Western Montana community's 300 inhabitants who have been snow-bound for three weeks.

Randy Manuel, operator of the Browning Telephone company, reported that a giant rotary snow-plow was believed to have entered Babb early today.

The town has been isolated completely since December 30.

PEIPING, Jan. 22—Marine Cpl. William G. Pierson was convicted by a U. S. naval court today of raping a 19-year-old Chinese girl and will not learn the penalty for some time.

New Concert Group To Bring Musical Artists To Salem

A plan to bring a group of top-ranking musical artists to Salem for a series of at least three concerts next fall and winter was launched last evening at the Memorial building with the formation of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert association.

Meeting with a representative of the Community Concert Service, a branch of the world's largest concert agency, Columbia Concerts, Inc., of New York, a group of 15 Salem citizens organized the association as the preliminary step in establishing a permanent concert series here on a business-like basis.

Chosen to head the new organization as president was Walter B. Null, who stated the plan involves a membership campaign which has been scheduled for later this spring.

During this campaign of one week, volunteer workers will take applications for membership in the association. Mrs. E. E. Dyball will serve as chairman for the campaign, assisted by Mrs. Vesta King.

Other officers include Charles F. Fox, secretary, and Orin A. Naragon, treasurer.

After the close of the membership campaign, the local committee will choose the artists for the coming season from a list that includes virtually all the major concert groups, singers, and instrumentalists now before the public, the president said.

Similar organizations have been operated successfully for several years, in Alliance, Sharon, Wooster and other communities in the state.

The formation of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert association will add another to the hundreds of cities and towns in the United States and Canada annually enjoying the talents of leading professional musicians on a basis that guarantees the local organization from deficit.

Null pointed out that all the membership dues of the non-profit association will be used for the purpose of engaging the artists and defraying the small campaign expense.

Minister To Talk At Kiwanis Club's Dinner Thursday

Rev. A. Robert Anderson, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal church of Steubenville, one of the leaders in that city's ministerial crusade against vice and gambling, will be the speaker for the Kiwanis club's 32nd anniversary party Thursday night at the Masonic temple.

He was secured after the scheduled speaker, Harry Blythe of Alliance, informed the club he would be unable to appear.

Following an informal dinner at 6:30, Kiwanis State Governor "Ike" Driver will install new club officers. The Salem High mixed chorus will furnish vocal selections.

Officials of Kiwanis clubs in the 10th Ohio district will be guests of the Salem club, in addition to the wives of local members.

The committee in charge is composed of Albert Morris, Atty. Guy Mauro, George Ryser, John Vance, Frank Davidson, John Gealy and Loren Early.

Hold Husband In Shooting Of Wife

CIRCLEVILLE, Jan. 22 — "Extreme jealousy" motivated a beating and shooting that killed a 20-year-old Circleville mother, and her 27-year-old divorced husband will be charged with first degree murder in the slaying, Prosecutor Kenneth M. Robbins said last night.

Harvey Julian, 27, walked into Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff's office late yesterday. Radcliff said, and stated that he beat his ex-wife, Ellen, on the head with a revolver, pushed her from his automobile on a country road three miles southeast of here, then shot her in the neck with a rifle.

Radcliff said Julian, divorced from his wife in December, met her in a hotel lobby and persuaded her to ride with him and discuss a reconciliation.

Press on the eve of his scheduled transfer to Venice to stand trial before a British war crimes court. Seated at a crude wooden table in a wretched enclosure operated by Col. H. E. Potter's historical division of USFET, the field marshal sketched old battle orders on note paper as he talked.

"During the whole battle of four months, I had losses of 5,000 men," he disclosed. "Of these, 5,000 were killed."

Allied casualties have been estimated unofficially as exceeding 50,000, of which at least two-thirds were Americans. More than 6,000 dead—from California, Ohio, New York, Arizona, Iowa and 43 other states—were buried in the U. S. military cemetery on the shell-scarred road from Nettuno.

Ida Mae Fredline, 57, of Somerset, Pa., was injured slightly when she lost control of her car and skidded into a ditch on Route 7, seven miles northwest of East Liverpool, at 2:55 p. m. Tuesday.

Richard Dusdosh, 23, of Calumet, was fined $5 and costs by Justice Felix Butch of Lisbon for passing a school bus stopped on the highway.

Charles Doland, 38, of East Liverpool, was fined $10 and costs by Butch on a charge of failure to observe a stop signal.

O. K. SALE OF HALL BONDS

Council Resolution Provides $120,000 For Actual Building

In conjunction with action on the new city hall site, city council Tuesday night passed a resolution authorizing the sale of $150,000 in bonds to finance the purchase of property for the site and cost of erection of the new municipal building.

The resolution, which stipulates a tentative figure of $40,000 for land and $120,000 for the building, is the first step towards actual sale of the municipal bonds approved by voters in the November election.

Certain technicalities must be fulfilled before the bonds are actually placed on sale, Solicitor Henry L. Reese explained.

It is expected that the bonds will be of $10,000 denominations and will extend over a 10-year period.

Water Line Approved
Council also instructed Service Director Frank K. Wilson to install about 150 feet of six-inch water pipe along Maple st., east from Morris ave., to service a new home in that area until an ample supply of the pipe is available to complete work in that sector of the city.

Council passed an ordinance establishing a new grade on S. Ellsworth ave., north from the corner of Franklin st. to the property line of the H. I. Hine Motor Co. The firm is constructing a new garage building there.

Council referred a request from the Salem Engineering Co. for abandonment of an alley running through its property, to the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee and the planning commission. Council instructed immediate legislation be drawn up if no objections were found to the proposed move.

The abandonment has been requested to make room for an addition to the firm's building. No definite plans on the addition were available yet, a firm official stated today.

The monthly report of income in Mayor R. R. Johnson's court showed a total of $776.20. Of this, $5 was from building permits; $62 from licenses; $465.80 from city fines; $165 from state patrol cases and $78.40 from city costs.

Fire Chief Vincent Malloy reported a balance of $10,859.22 in the fire department pension fund as of Dec. 1, 1946. Disbursements totaled $2,889.70 during the year, Malloy said.

63 BILLS BEFORE OHIO LEGISLATORS

COLUMBUS, Jan. 22—Ohio representatives were a "country mile" ahead of senators today in a race to make new laws.

Two plans to outlaw the closed shop in Ohio industry were among 63 proposals rushed into the house on its opening day for new measures.

Others proposed three new bonus programs and other aids to veterans, repeal of portions of the sales tax, lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 years, making bribery of athletes a penitentiary offense, and to boost local government allotments from $21,000,000 to $36,000,000 annually for 1947 and 1948.

Three other measures would supersede the one-cent liquid fuel tax with an extra cent levy on gasoline for highway uses, bringing total taxes for that purpose to four cents.

Two bills would require payment of all receipts from public school athletic events into rotary funds subject to state audit.

Buyers Cleveland Plant

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22—The War Assets Administration announced last night that it had approved sale of the Cleveland Pneumatic Aero's plant to Harry Ferguson, Inc., of Detroit, for $1,900,000.

Farm tractors will be built at the plant, which formerly turned out struts for military aircraft.

City Council Tells How It Made Decision

Salem's new City Hall will be constructed on property at the south-west corner of S Broadway and E Pershing st.

The site, selected by city council last night, includes the first three lots on Broadway south from Pershing and extends west to Filbert st.

Council expects to acquire the properties in the near future. The building will face on Broadway, with a Pershing st. entrance, and will house administrative offices, water dept. office, police and fire departments.

City Hall Committee Chairman Harry Vincent presented the detailed report of the findings of the committee to council last night, explaining that the committee had considered all sites suggested, checked them with the Ohio Bureau of Inspection and given careful consideration to present needs and anticipated future needs of the city in reaching its decision.

Council adopted the recommendation unanimously. Fred L. Blewins and President C. F. Zimmerman were not present because of illness.

In making the selection the solons followed the recommendation of the Ohio Inspection bureau after a public meeting had been held in November for site suggestions by the public.

Council had chosen the S. Broadway site tentatively before the voters passed a $150,000 bond issue in the November election, but withheld final decision until the public had been heard.

Ten Sites Were Investigated

Since then council has investigated 10 sites suggested and finally decided the Broadway location was the most desirable.

The recommendation by council, identical to the findings of the Inspection bureau, listed the sites in this order:

(1) The Broadway site, because it is located on the widest street in the city, has a 40 foot street at the rear and the committee recommends that E. Pershing st. be widened to 70 feet at the point of the new building.

(2) (a) The west side of S. Ellsworth ave., south of the Home Furniture Co. store. Council explained that this site was too small without taking in the corner property and would not be suitable for location of fire department. It also located on two of narrowest streets in city.

Council's complete report also included a history of council's work on the city hall problem, beginning in 1941 when the present building was condemned and ordered torn down.

Seek To Acquire Properties
At that time sites were considered but war material shortages and interruptions in building programs allowed a stay of execution of the condemnation order by the state fire marshal.

The report explains that consideration was given to the erection of two separate buildings, one to house regular municipal functions and the other for the fire station.

That was deemed too expensive, not only from an erection cost standpoint, but from maintenance and operative costs. It, consequently, was abandoned. Then it was found necessary to locate the one building in a place suitable to all purposes.

Thus the decision on the Broadway site.

Council plans immediate action to acquire the properties needed and a committee to investigate that work will begin functioning after appointment at the next meeting. It was indicated at last night's session.

Stoffer Trial Ends; Judge To Make Ruling On Friday

A verdict in the trial of Ralph N. Stoffer, former police chief here, will be announced in common pleas court at Ravenna at 2 p. m. Friday.

Judge Blake C. Cook, who will make the decision on Stoffer's trial on charge of illegal use of a machinegun May 30, 1946, in Deerfield, heard final arguments by Prosecutor Seabury Ford and Stoffer's attorneys this morning and closed the case at noon. He said he would announce his verdict Friday.

Stoffer, Ben Fisher, Norman Paxson and William Rutter, all of Salem, testified Tuesday afternoon as defense witnesses, the last three telling of associations with the ex-chief on the night before the shooting episode in Deerfield.

Defense counsel contended today that Stoffer's intoxicated condition was such that he was incapable of pre-meditated crime and further argued that, as a police officer, he was legally allowed to carry the machine gun without a permit.

The defense said that no geographic limits are placed on an officer of Stoffer's former position, and consequently, the ex-chief was not out-of-bounds in his action on May 30, when he allegedly chased a waitress out of a Deerfield restaurant and fired a burst of machinegun bullets at her.

The defense contended that Stoffer was subject to call on duty at all times.

Prosecutor Ford cited eight statutes, any one of which constitutes illegal use of a machinegun.

Ford also disputed the defense's contention that he shot himself, saying that a blast such as that from so close a range would have nearly severed his leg.

Prior to Stoffer's testimony Ford testified that he and the ex-chief, who accompanied him home that night with cash from the Happy Days Casino on S. Ellsworth ave., had "had a few drinks" in the Paxson residence. Then Stoffer left Paxson and supposedly went to Deerfield.

Stoffer told the court he was searching for a car that had struck his in Salem and his mind "went blank" before he reached Deerfield.

Cold Snap Brings Gas Curtailment Which Hits China Co.

Salem citizens shivered in near-zero temperatures today, and with the arrival of the coldest weather of a hitherto mild winter came warnings from gas companies that their supplies were below demand and that consumers must conserve.

The mercury began falling sharply yesterday and early today had dipped to near zero throughout the state.

Two Above Here
Temperatures in Salem dipped in a hurry Tuesday, going from 18 at noon to a minimum of two above zero during the night. It was two above at 6 a. m. today and 10 above at noon. It was six below here on Jan. 22 last year.

Other readings at 1:30 a. m., all above zero, included: Columbus 4, Cincinnati 9, Cleveland 3, Toledo 4, Youngstown 3, Akron 3, Zanesville 6, Findlay 5, Wilmington 3, East Liverpool 2, Hayesville 1.

Springfield reported the lowest temperature — one below zero at midnight.

Operations of the gas fired kilns at the Salem China Co. plant ceased Tuesday night as all available gas supply was conserved for home use.

Some operations in other local plants, dependent upon gas supply, also were curtailed.

One kiln at the China Co. plant is convertible to oil and is still in use, it was reported.

E. M. Tharp, vice president and general manager, said that the extreme cold, coupled with mechanical failures in the "big inch" supply lines Tuesday had created a shortage which may mean towns at the end of the line would be without gas, unless there was stringent conservation.

In Toledo six factories using natural gas laid off about 1,500 workers, and another 1,000 lay-offs were predicted for today unless a 10 per cent cut in consumption ordered by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was resumed.

Ohio's Problems

Governor Herbert's opening message to the General Assembly reveals an area of agreement about Ohio's problems in which legislative action can take place with a minimum of resistance. That is, there are few things in sight on which the new governor, the new Assembly and the people of Ohio can find important differences of opinion.

Most of the answers to the state's problems are as obvious as the problems themselves. Ohio has lost ground on highway building and maintenance. The lost ground must be made up. Similarly, the state's institutions must be brought more nearly abreast of the needs of Ohioans. More money must be available for education, for salaries of public officials, for public health. The state must adjust itself to federal laws governing insurance companies. Ohio cannot ignore the labor problem.

The time is ripe for a department of conservation. There must be better coordination of facilities for improvement of agriculture. Ohio's veterans are entitled to whatever reward the state decides to give them in a referendum. There should be no further accumulation of surplus income from state taxes; the Ohio sales tax should be reduced, unless new spending needs are created. A fair employment practices law should be considered. Studies should be made of juvenile delinquency and the operation of the state liquor monopoly.

Governor Herbert recognizes these as the principal subjects the legislature must consider. His list contains nothing new, nor is there anything new in his proposals for legislative action. There never was a more forceful reminder that the usual function of government is to recognize what people want, to discover the people's will and to translate the will into public policy. Ohio's problems are typical of the problems of all important states, from parking in its cities' congested streets to preservation of its natural resources. They are primarily problems that can be solved by careful legislation and conscientious administration—the keynote of Governor Herbert's first address to Ohio's General Assembly.

Anything New?

The outcome of last Sunday's Polish vote will be announced Jan. 31. It is reported that things were more peaceful than had been expected; only eight persons are known to have lost their lives.

This is scarcely more violence than is customary in New York's Harlem district and Kentucky's Harlem county, if allowance is made for Poland's unusual circumstances as a hostage of the world's largest police state. It is less exciting certainly than the palace revolution still raging in Atlanta, Ga.

The leader of the Polish Peasant party is indignant over evidence that his party was manhandled, which had been foreseen, but Americans may doubt that the manhandling was any cruder than some of the classic antics of the Pendergast, Hague, Kelley and Tammany Hall steamrollers when they were rolling high, wide and handsome.

Probably things were not measurably more corrupt than they were in the WPA vote scandals in Kentucky during the depression. Polish electioneers would have had to work hard to think of anything more cynical than padding election lists with the names of persons long deceased. In fact, evidence of wrong-doing in the Polish elections would have to be startling to get more than a yawn out of Americans who are convinced that they've seen everything there is to see in the line of election fraud.

If Everybody Worked Harder

British Prime Minister Attlee's appeal for an industrial speedup to save the nation from economic disaster is too painfully earnest to permit any comment on the irony of a Labor party spokesman talking like a Conservative opponent. Britain is desperate for wealth to replace its war losses, and wealth must be created by work.

The same degree of desperation caused the Russian government to command an industrial speedup during the war, when Russia's salvation depended on maximum production by each industrial worker. When the chips were down, a Russian government calling itself a dictatorship of the proletariat had no compunctions about asking the proletariat to work to the limit.

In the United States, where there is no proletariat but only a vast middle class whose members may prosper by acting to their intelligence, luck and energy, there also is recognition of the relationship between effort and production. In all kinds of devious ways, every student of economics has been trying to say that if everybody worked a little harder in this country things could get much better much more rapidly.

There is this difference, though—that in the United States the government would not dare mention an industrial speedup. In this country, the government can only hint about efficiency and morale. Otherwise, there would be a howl of indignation that would convince the watchful waters abroad that the Americans finally were about to have a revolution and install John L. Lewis on a throne on the White House lawn.

The speedup, as persons versed in the jargon of labor doctrine, American style, have been taught to believe, is something peculiar to exploitation of labor by capitalists and managers. It is a way to make more profit for the boss. Therefore, say the persons who know all the clichés of labor doctrine, it must be resisted. It is the sort of thing that must be checkmated by laws defining fair labor standards. It is the sort of thing that justifies the filing of billions of dollars' worth of portal-to-portal suits by slick labor lawyers to collect pay that was not earned for work that was not performed by workers who did not even know they were working.

The first blast of American protest against Mr. At-lee's plea for a speedup is awaited. It will be awaited a long time. It is only in the United States that blasts are issued against pleas for more production—in the United States where working men and women have reached the world's highest standard of living by trying a little harder and producing more wealth than the world ever dreamed of having.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, January 23

A sudden and possibly dramatic turn of events, sustained by some particularly brilliant and shrewd insight into current possibilities, may combine to bring about a progressive and far-reaching state of affairs, in which there is promise of happy, lucrative and revolutionary circumstances. There are implications of the purely personal or romantic, which may drastically affect the future as well as present prospects. Build on the bright idea—put over with ingenuity, originality and innovation for results.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves suddenly precipitated into an era of dramatic accomplishment or progress, by abrupt turn of events or by use of some unique plan or brilliant idea, brought to bear upon a program of experiment or test. Ingenuity, skill, a smart and bright attack upon old techniques, fresh and novel tactics, combine for thrilling and constructive denouement. This should have decisive influence upon the future destiny, its financial, political, as well as personal and romantic life.

A child born on this day will possess much originality, exceptional skill and ingenuity, with a brilliant mind and a personality assisting to prominence and position for a dramatic career.

The Nation Today

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), newly assigned watchdog of the nation's pocket-book, declared today he not only would "sledgehammer" future money bills but whack at some spending programs laid out by the last congress.

In that category Taber lumped what he called "non-essential functions of government" and public works programs on which direct appropriations are pending—such as roads, rivers and harbors and airports.

Already chairman of the house appropriations committee, Taber was elected yesterday as head of the committee which will review President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and then put its own ceiling on federal expenditures.

Enough flood control and rivers and harbors projects already have been authorized by congress, Chairman Dondoro (R-Mich.) of the house public works committee said.

He told a reporter that $3,634,000,000 worth of these projects had been authorized and were "lying on the shelf."

"There is no necessity at all for any more," he added.

Ohio's new senator, John W. Bricker, lost no time in taking advantage of a new senate policy taking the gag off its freshmen.

Bricker, a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1948, was the first of 16 newcomers to speak a piece when he announced yesterday he would back his party's fight to continue the special war investigating committee.

Republican leaders had extended an invitation to the 16 to get into the debates rather than wait the customary period of months of silence while learning their ways around congress.

"We're trying to get Republicans better organized than they have ever been before," explained Senator White of Maine, Republican floor manager. "The way to get cooperation is to have full participation and we've asked the new members to carry their share of the burden in working for legislation."

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Fighting Infection In Hand

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
THE hand is an artful and complex arrangement of bones and muscles bound together by a network of tendons.

Each of these many tendons is enclosed in a membrane or sheath, and it is a serious matter if, as sometimes happens, any of these sheaths become infected.

Unless it is promptly overcome, there is danger that the infection may spread throughout the hand and even attack the bones themselves, causing permanent disability.

According to Dr. Joan A. Marsden of Australia, this condition can be treated with good results by using penicillin not only by injection into a muscle, but directly into the tendon sheath. Such treatment not only will help to overcome the general poisoning due to the infection but will check local spread of the infection and shorten the stay in the hospital and the period of convalescence.

In carrying out the treatment, an incision is made into the tissues and a tiny opening made into the tendon sheath. A hypodermic needle is then inserted into the sheath and infected material sucked out with a syringe.

Another incision is made higher up and another needle inserted. The penicillin solution is then injected through one opening and drawn out through the other.

Daily injections are carried out while injections of penicillin into a muscle are administered every three hours. The patient is instructed to keep the fingers active by moving them at regular intervals throughout the day.

As the tendon sheath infection is overcome, the number of injections into the sheath is reduced to one every second day and, gradually, this is discontinued.

Dr. Marsden believes that this type of treatment should be started immediately, once a diagnosis of tendon sheath infection of the hand has been made. The prompt beginning of movements of the fingers is important in restoring the normal action of the infected finger, as well as the movements of the hand.

There are some disadvantages to this method of treatment. It is painful and if not carefully carried out, it may spread the infection, unless the solution is washed through the sheath from one end to the other.

However, with this treatment all patients lost signs of infection in one or two days. Within four days fever and increased pulse rate subsided.

In most instances the stay in the hospital was three or four weeks. In a group of ten patients treated, there was complete recovery of function of the fingers in five cases. In three cases there was impaired function and in two instances stiff fingers.

However, these results seem to be better than those obtained with other methods of treatment of this condition.

Anderson Seeks Congress Advice On Farm Program

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will seek congressional advice this week on how to prevent the government's $80,000,000 loss on last year's potato surplus from spreading to other products.

The loss resulted from wartime price supports which are not scheduled to expire until the end of 1948.

Anderson arranged to discuss the matter with the house agriculture committee Wednesday and with the senate agriculture committee Thursday.

The problem of carrying out government farm price commitments promises to become one of the most棘手 economic and political issues to confront the new Republican congress and the Truman administration.

Except in case of drought or some other abnormal development, agriculture is regarded as capable of producing more of many commodities than markets will take at prices now defined by law as being fair to producers.

The Problem
The problem facing policy makers is this:

"Should the government place no restraint on production and permit farmers to produce all they can even though it cannot all be sold at the designated prices?"

If the answer should be "yes," the result might be the expenditure of millions—perhaps billions—of dollars of public funds to take the surpluses off the market. There would be heavy losses among perishables.

A "no" would require a return to rigid government production control measures. Neither the Democratic administration nor the Republican congress want to take the responsibility for directing such a course because both parties have committed themselves in political campaigns to "agricultural abundance."

Two other suggested solutions have been advanced by farm leaders in and out of government. Both place emphasis upon expanding consumption rather than upon controlling production.

Would Aid Needed
One embodies plans for encouraging greater consumption through government grants of additional food purchasing power to low-income families. Money which the government otherwise would use to buy up surpluses to support farm prices would go to needy families for purchase of the surpluses.

The other suggestion has been called "the cheap food" program. Under it, price supports would be withdrawn and farm and food prices would be allowed to seek their natural economic levels. The government would compensate farmers for the difference between what they get at the market and the higher support price.

Farm Tractors In County Increase

Columbiana county has 698 more farm tractors than five years ago, according to the U. S. Census of Agriculture for 1945.

Tractors on farms in the county increased from 880 in 1940 to 1,578 in the new census count. About 45 percent of the farms in the county are now equipped with tractors.

U. S. farmers bought nearly 1,000,000 tractors during the war years, increasing the number on farms to the record total of 2,425,000, the new census shows. This is two-thirds more than in 1940, and more than double the number ten years ago.

The number of motor trucks on farms in Columbiana county increased from 733 to 811 in the past five years, according to the census. In farm automobiles, however, the curtailment of production during the war took its toll here as elsewhere. The number of farm cars in the county decreased from 3,478 before the war to 3,233 in the recent census.

Briton "Hates His Country", Jailed

(By Associated Press)
WIESBADEN, Germany, Jan. 22.—A Briton who said he hated England found himself in an American military jail today after swapping identities with an American soldier now missing.

Donald L. Jenkins of London said he spent 30 "joyous" days as an American soldier. His masquerade ended when he signed the payroll incorrectly. He would have been transferred to the United States for redeployment within a few weeks.

Jenkins said he met the missing soldier in a Paris bar.

"The French girl I went to Paris to see was already married," he related, "so the American and I went to a movie and changed clothes. I took his uniform. He took my civilian clothes. I've always wanted to go to the United States, and the American wanted to quit the Army."

Within an hour, he was on a troop train bound for Germany. No one questioned him. He simulated a Brooklyn accent, bluffed his way through a reassignment center and was transferred to the military government in Wiesbaden.

Jenkins was told he would be turned over to the British consul in Frankfurt. He said he would try to enter the United States legally "the next time." He declared that he liked the American jail better than his native land, adding: "I hate England."

Army authorities said Jenkins posed as Pvt. Gordon R. Palsbo, of Buffalo, N. Y. Officials said military police were looking for Palsbo but that no charges had been filed against him.

KIDNAPED

as about 42, 5 feet 8 inches, 165 to 170 pounds, dark brown hair, blue eyes, sharp features, apparently well educated.

Since Saturday the man had posed here as a feature writer in a nation-wide survey of high school life looking for the "typical American girl."

Alice disappeared at 7:30 p. m. Monday after leaving a Lodi photographic studio where she had gone to have her picture taken for the purported features.

Bound and Gagged
Lodi Police Chief Millard L. Fore said when the girl left the studio the kidnaper placed her in an automobile, bound and gagged her after threatening her life with a knife and a revolver and drove her to the motel outside Sacramento.

There she was held, trussed on the bed, while the kidnaper stood watch until about noon yesterday, the chief said. When the abductor left, presumably to receive the ransom, Alice Dean effected her escape.

Giving the name of Giles, the man had posed boldly as a feature writer and even arranged with Alice Dean's parents for the pictures. He sent a taxicab to take her to the studio appointment.

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.
Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic-Arthritic-Sciatic-Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee-calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at your drug store.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.—Adv.

BRIMS NARROWER, DISTINCTIVE FEATHER TRIMS USED

THERE is nothing that will build up your spirits and spruce up your wardrobe at this season of the year like a new hat. You will probably prefer a style that will be fresh and lovely now and carry right on into spring. There is a modification of contour in the new hats, as illustrated above in three models by Madame Reine. Brims are narrower, crowns continue to fit the head, and feathers are used with distinction. A modern version of the cloche is shown at left. It is made in petunia pink felt, and has a squared front and a soft matching feather swirl at each side that hugs the head in earlap effect. The dinner turban, top right, is made of black fillagree passementerie and has two shades of pink and black ostrich feathers cascading down one side. The black velours fedora, below, has an unusual and most attractive trim of turquoise blue feathers that add height to it, and a cluster of black tulle is pinned in the center front with a French rose. Engineer Plugs For Erie - River Canal

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22—Col. W. E. Lorence, Pittsburgh district engineer, said today "high priority" should be given development of such links in the inland waterways system as the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio river canal.

Because of the benefits of cheap water transportation, a spreading of industry along our expanded waterways will benefit the entire nation," he told the annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley association.

Col. Lorence said an engineers' report in 1939 recommended construction of the Lake Erie-Ohio river link, and placed the estimated cost at approximately $240,000,000. The report also estimated shippers would save 72 cents per ton based on prospective commerce of 28,000,000 tons.

A supplementary report recommended a 14-foot draft canal instead of a nine-foot draft to enable self-propelled lake carriers to use it, eliminating transfer of cargo at the lake terminus near Ashtabula, he added.

Col. Lorence said the canal not only would benefit shippers of bulk commodities such as coal and iron ore, but would attract new industry to the area and augment the nation's defense system.

He said a 20-mile reservoir planned as part of the canal near Youngstown would provide an ideal recreation area and would be a factor in both stream pollution abatement and flood control in the Grand, Mahoning and Ohio river valleys.

Opponents of the WCTU's program have said the zoning law was written expressly to bar itinerant peddlers of whiskey from setting up tents near agricultural fairs. Those engaged in the liquor business asserted that money invested in good faith in a state license would be threatened if the old measure was enforced.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

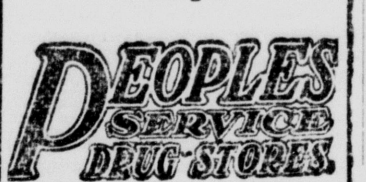

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organical nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty. Thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Up From War's Secret Depths: SUBMERSIBLE CANOE

In this underwater photograph taken in a calm sea, Britain's submersible canoe has just completely submerged. Smallest underwater craft in the world, it had a range of 30 to 40 miles at a speed of 3 1/2 knots. Its pilot wears a rubber suit and oxygen apparatus.

Cruising on the surface of the English channel, the underwater canoe looks as innocent as a tiny speedboat on a holiday outing.

Puzzle: Find the canoe. In Mediterranean camouflage, an M.S.C. pilot shows how he could sneak up on an anchored enemy vessel.

By NEA Service
LONDON—The story of Britain's "fighting canoe-man"—a wartime epic buried in secrecy and often submerged in enemy waters—was revealed for the first time today. In a strange craft officially known as the M.S.C. (motorized submersible canoe), these lone men did their fighting under the sea at night attacking ships in enemy harbors.

These exclusive pictures show how the "canoe-men" went into action. Not only the canoe, but the men themselves, had to be fitted out for underwater operation. The pilot, whose head and shoulders projected from the tiny cockpit, wore a rubber suit and oxygen breathing apparatus.

Great human endurance was required of the canoe-man. He and his craft were carried into enemy waters on the deck of a motor torpedo boat, or in a conventional submarine. Then he set out on his mission, always working at night, sometimes forced to remain in his tiny boat for 10 to 12 hours.

The M. S. C., only 12 feet 8 inches long with a 27-inch beam, could be partially flooded by means of valves and travel with only the pilot's head above water, or it could be completely submerged. In 50 feet of water, it could loop-the-loop.

Although the assignment to man the submersible canoe was a life and death hazard for those who could meet the rigid physical requirements, young men waited in line to volunteer for the epic job.

Quartet Named To Baseball's Hall Of Fame

SELECT HONOR SPOTS FIRST TIME IN YEARS

Mickey Cochrane, Frankie Frisch, Lefty Grove and Carl Hubbell in

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Four baseball greats, Pitchers Carl Hubbell and Robert (Lefty) Grove, Infielder Frankie Frisch and Catcher Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane today joined 49 other immortals of the diamond in the national pastime's hall of fame.

The quartet was elected to the Cooperstown, N. Y., shrine by the Baseball Writers of America in a poll completed Jan. 15.

It was the first time since 1942, when Rogers Hornsby, who led the National league in batting in seven seasons, was named that any player received 75 percent of the votes required for election.

The election results of which were announced last night, was the first under the new rules which restricted the balloting privileges to writers of at least ten years' membership in the association and which also confined the field to players of the era since 1921. No player active in organized baseball on the field in 1946 was eligible.

Hubbell, famous "meal ticket" of the New York Giants, who won 253 games during his momentous career, drew 140 of the 161 votes cast to head the list.

Frisch, the "Fordham Flash" of the Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, was second with 136 votes. Trailing Frisch with 128 votes was Cochrane, one-time catching great of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers.

Grove, Cochrane's one-time battery mate on the Athletics, followed with 123 votes. The former south-paw speedball ace who closed out his career with the Boston Red Sox, won 300 games during his stay in the major leagues.

Harold (Pie) Traynor, outstanding third baseman and former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, missed being selected by two votes, polling 119.

The four plaques of the newcomers will be hung alongside their 49 predecessors.

All told, 9 players appeared on the ballots with Charlie Gehringer, Detroit's stellar second baseman, the only other player to draw more than 100 votes. The one-time "mechanical marvel" of the Tiger infield polled 105.

United Tool Wins In Extra Period; Schaeffer Hits 22

The last six teams of the city Class A basketball league saw action Tuesday night on the Memorial building hardwoods as the loop completed the first week of play in the second round of the season.

United Tool & Die jumped to a win over Moose, but did it the hard way in an overtime period, 32-28, while Si's Sports romped to an easy 55-31 victory over the Electric Furnace, as Town Talk won its first tilt of the season over Ellsworth 31-29.

The first game was a see-saw affair with United holding a 10-8 quarter lead. The Moose club came back to lead at the half, however, 22-19. They increased their margin at the end of the third period to 27-22, but were outplayed in the final and saw the game end in a tie when "Hoss" Wright's last second field goal knotted the count.

Charlie Malloy dumped in two layups in the overtime, while his team held the Moose scoreless to clinch the victory. Drakulich and Scott each hooped eight points to pace United, while "Harpo" Brian pumped in 11 for the Moose.

United made seven of 13 free throws, while the Moose hit six of 10.

Only 13 personal fouls were called in the Si's Sports-Electric Furnace tilt.

It was a one-sided victory for Si's, the only highlight of which was Bill Schaeffer's scoring. The big center hit the hoop for 14 points in the first half and came back to add eight more in the second half to record the highest individual total of the season. His 22 points eclipsed a mark of 21, set by R. "Dog" Scullen of the AMVETS a week ago.

Si's led 24-16 at the half and outscored the Furnace 31-15 in the second portion of the game. Bob Buchman notched 11 points to lead the Furnace.

Town Talk pushed through 13 tallies in the final period to defeat Ellsworth, for their first win of the year. The teams have now exchanged victories, each winning but one game.

Ellsworth set the pace at the half with a 20-14 lead.

Paul Baird was again high man for Town Talk with 13 points, while Bunts was tops for Ellsworth with 10.

FELLER SEEKING 30 WINS IN 1947

Says He Wants To Hit 30 After Signing Baseball Top Contract

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22.—Rapid Robert Feller, who this year expects to haul down the largest salary ever paid a baseball player, has set himself a goal for 1947. He wants to win 30 games.

"I never have won 30," said the Cleveland Indians' strikeout king, "but maybe this year—I think we have a better ball club."

Feller was enroute today to St. Petersburg, Fla., for a month's vacation—plus golf, tennis and rowing—with his wife and son, Steve, after signing "the best contract" he's ever had.

Under its terms, said Tribe President Bill Veeck, Feller will get more than the $80,000 which was Babe Ruth's top figure. Sports scribes figured the income could go as high as $100,000, depending on the click of the turnstiles.

It May Add Up To More Than $80,000

"Ohhhh" groans Indians president Bill Veeck, holding his head as pitcher Bob Feller grinningly puts an adding machine to work in Cleveland after signing a contract based on salary and attendance that may bring him more than $80,000 and make him highest paid player in baseball history.

Second Guessing

By DON E. BEATTIE News Sports Editor

DON'T MISS THIS ONE One of the largest crowds in Salem Boosters club history is expected at 8:30 Thursday night at the Salem club when the local club will have Bill Veeck, popular president of the Cleveland Baseball Co., as its guest speaker.

Baseball fans throughout this area consistently follow the ways of the Tribe and the appearance of Veeck here will certainly draw a large throng. Veeck's appearance out of Cleveland is unusual and his talk here is one of the few since he became owner of the Indians in June 1946.

Veeck's signing of Fireballer Bob Feller Wednesday morning at a salary reportedly higher than Babe Ruth's $80,000 per year in 1931 and '32 is evidence of his determination to make Cleveland tops in baseball. Feller worked for far less for years under the old Tribe management.

Contacted by The News Tuesday morning just a few minutes after the Feller signature was a reality, Veeck said "Bob really did all right for himself, but I'm proud and darned glad to have someone on my club worth that much money."

Statistics Department Although big Bob Page of the Salem Quakers is currently pondering the backboard at the best average in the county—slightly over 17 per try—his defensive performance actually overshadow his tremendous offensive thrusts this season.

While playing man-to-man against such offensive threats as East Liverpool's Walt Ashbaugh, Warren's Larry Imburgia, Columbiana's Don Senewin, Alumna's Walt Brian, Ken Robinson, Alliance's Reddy King and Ravenna's Dough Brown, the big Quaker has scored a total of 113 points against a total of only 35 for that crew.

The opponents have hit just 11 baskets against Page while he collected 41 against, in most cases, a one defense that threw two and three men to cover him each game. The figures—and they're plenty mazing—give Page a 11-point average and the free combined, only 36 a game against him.

Awkward though he may be at times, the Junior led has a lot of romise and bodes plenty of worry or all comers this year.

DEPARTMENT OF GUESSING It is reported from an authoritative source that the Notre Dame football game next Nov. 2 will be played at the Cleveland stadium and not in New York City, as some rumors have had it lately.

The reason behind the Cleveland sale is simple and logical in the line of thought that has already been expressed by the big-wigs at the Irish home grounds. After Notre Dame and Army have Miller worked his Quakers out on the big Leetonia court again Tuesday. Forward's Rutsky and Sullivan of the Leetonia varsity are ill be played at the Cleveland stadium and not in New York City, as some rumors have had it lately.

At least two bus loads of students are slated to go to so. Bill Veeck will bring Tribe Publicity Director Marshall Samuels and Travelling Secretary "Spud" Goldstein with him to Salem Thursday.

STEEL WAGE PARLEY SET

CIO - Steelworkers Will Open Negotiations At Pittsburgh Friday

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22 — The CIO-United Steelworkers and the "Big Steel" of the industry will meet over conference tables here Friday to open negotiations on a 1947 contract for some 175,000 workers in five subsidiary companies.

The U. S. Steel Corp. disclosed the new date for the discussions, postponed from last Thursday—as union negotiators held a series of preliminary meetings here.

The union has announced a 15-point program on general objectives which include these goals: "A sizeable wage increase," "portal-to-portal pay," a guaranteed minimum annual wage, improved social benefits, premium pay for weekends and holidays and other points.

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, will head the union delegation while management representatives will be headed by John A. Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations for the U. S. Steel.

These companies will be involved in the negotiations for new contracts to replace those expiring Feb. 15: Carnegie-Illinois Corp., Columbia Steel, American Sheet & Wire, Republic Steel, and Tennessee Coal Iron & Railroad.

The union has filed 30-day strike notices against 750 basic steel producers and fabricating companies but Murray has emphasized that action was a "protective" measure only in case contract negotiations should fail.

While U. S. Steel's contract terms usually set the pattern for the industry, the union already has opened negotiations with Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Inland Steel, Republic Steel, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

The union's representatives, headed by District Director William F. Donovan, presented the Steelworkers proposals to the Republic management in Cleveland yesterday, but Donovan said no specific figures had been mentioned in connection with the demand for "substantial" wage increases.

AAF Sergeant Gets Annual Valor Award

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 — An Army Air Forces sergeant who volunteered to be the guinea pig for the AAF's first test of its equipment for "shooting" pilots out of a crippled high speed plane has been given the annual Cheney award.

The award, bestowed for an act of valor or self-sacrifice in a humanitarian interest, was given First Sgt. Lawrence Lambert of Dayton, Ohio, the AAF announced today.

Lambert, member of a unit at Wright Field, Ohio, was shot from the rear seat of a B-51 Black Widow night fighter last August. Engineers who developed a system for blowing the pilot seat of a plane clear of the aircraft with a 7 millimeter cartridge had reached the point where dummies no longer could be used.

The sergeant was tossed clear of the plane by the exploding cartridge and an automatic device opened his parachute, proving the AAF device workable.

The award, which carries with it $500 in cash, was originated in 1927 by the mother and sister of 1st Lt. William H. Cheney of Morristown, N. J., who was killed in an aerial collision over Foggia, Italy, in 1918.

WARNING!

The GAS Supply Is Critical!

Prolonged cold weather has doubled the demand for natural gas.

Gas supply and distribution lines—already taxed to capacity—are now overburdened as a result of the present cold wave, with gas pressures in the lines now running dangerously low in this area.

We have already drastically reduced all industrial consumption.

That will not be enough. It is vitally necessary that domestic users use less gas.

If everyone cooperates and follows the instructions for saving fuel that are outlined in this advertisement . . . it will help to prevent undue hardship.

We thank you for your complete cooperation throughout this emergency and assure you that your gas company is doing everything possible to increase the gas supply available to you and your neighbors.

Everyone must help save this precious fuel! ————HERE'S HOW—————

1. Don't use your gas range to heat the kitchen.
2. If you heat with gas set your thermostat at 65°—still lower at night.
3. Shut off rooms not in use, particularly attics and second floor bedrooms. Keep bedroom doors closed at night, place a rug at bottom of door.

4. Don't use gas room heaters to supplement your furnace.
5. Use hot water sparingly. Postpone all laundering and bathing. Don't wash dishes or shave in running hot water. Keep water heater thermostat set at a minimum.

Recollections Of Early Day Resident By Paul N. Allen

I was born in Salem in 1872 which is quite a long time ago. My father was a member of the firm of Kirk, Allen & Thomas, who operated a hardware store, corner of Main st. and Chestnut, called "Anvil Corner."

The name was very appropriate since most of their sales were to wagon and carriage makers and blacksmiths. In those days all wagons and buggies were made by hand and the materials came from the hardware stores.

In 1883 our family, consisting of my father, mother and a sister and myself, moved to Jamestown, Dakota Territory, my father having sold out the store in Salem.

He bought an interest in a hardware store here in Jamestown and was continuously in the business until his death in 1919.

I went to work in the store in Jamestown in 1893 and was connected with it either as an employee or part owner until about a year ago when we sold out after more than 62 years of ownership which is quite a long time in this comparatively new section of the country.

I have many very vivid recollections of Salem even though I left there when only 10 years of age.

The mayor at that time was a very kindly old gentleman by the name of Barclay C. Gilbert who was a neighbor of our family on East Main st. which I note you now call State st.

The superintendent of schools was Geo. N. Carruthers. The postmaster was a Mr. Boyle. The Presbyterian minister was a Dr. Fry and I recall that he preached very long sermons.

I remember many of the stores. The principal druggists were M. Smith Hawkins, Trimble Bros. and Bolger & French, all of whom had the large jars of brightly colored liquids in their windows which every drug store did at that time.

Also the Carr & Tescher hardware store, Frank Knowles harness shop, Kesselmeires and Sam Wilson jewelry stores, Guy Bros. haberdashers, Hayes Drygoods, the Co-hen clothing store, Groves grocery, MacMillan's book and wall-paper and Chas. Howard's barber shop.

I think the Silver & Deining Mfg. Co. and the Woodruff & Sons stove foundry were about the largest industries. Also there was another stove foundry called Baxter's, operated by a father and I think six sons.

Small boys always admire the police with their blue uniforms and brass buttons and I was no exception. My two favorites were Pascal Seeds, better known as "Pack," and Sam Buell.

I also remember two horse-drawn fire engines, the Deluge and the Vigilant, which were always kept bright and shiny by the firemen and the kids always liked to watch them when there was a fire.

The very first school I attended was a private school located on East Main just east of the Hayes drygoods store and run by a widow by the name of Mrs. Williams. She later married a Mr. Forehope.

Later I went to the old Green St. school where my teachers were Miss Whittlesey and Miss Umstead. Still later I went to the large school building on Fourth st. where two of my teachers were Miss Alice Stewart and Miss Lapra Donaldson.

I still have an old autograph album in which these two teachers and Mr. Carruthers wrote their names, also one of the members of my class, Miss Mabel Garrigus, whose father ran a small machine shop.

I also have a photograph of the pupils in my room which also included Henry Judd and his son Ralph, Mr. Judd being a member of the board of education.

On a recent short visit to Salem about the only store I could locate that had a familiar name was the MacMillan book store. I had a visit with Miss Vincent one of the salesladies in the store, also had a very nice short visit with Miss Alice MacMillan at her home. She told me they would soon celebrate the 100th anniversary of the establishment of their business which occurred in 1850, a record of which they may be justly proud.

In 1883 the principal hotel was the American House run by John Dellenbaugh.

On my recent visit I was not able to find very many of the people I remembered but did have a very interesting visit with C. S. Carr, the hardware merchant whose father was also in the hardware business in the late 70's and early 80's and who was a competitor of my father at that time, but I believe they were good friends just the same.

Among the young people of those old days whom I recall are Ed. McCarthy, Otis Silver, Robert and Jean Rukensbrod, Fred and Carrie Pow, Carrie Hawkins, Maud Woodruff, Fred Vickers, Willie Bissell, Norah Wilson, Mabel Garrigus, Tom Vernon, Ralph Judd, Orrie Rutter and many others.

At that time Salem had no telephones, no electric power and no daily newspaper. There were two weekly papers, the Salem Era and the Republican. They were published by two brothers by the name of Rukensbrod, the Era by Edward and the Republican by Robert. When anybody died the family had cards printed telling of the time of death and date and place of the funeral as that was the only way to notify the friends and then had these cards tacked up in many public places.

On my recent visit I was glad to see Salem was apparently quite prosperous with large bank deposits and many other evidences of prosperity. If any of those old friends mentioned should read this rambling story I wish them all good health and a happy 1947.
